Introduction to the Icon of Best Public Relations Practices

Since 1944, the Silver Anvil – which symbolizes the forging of public opinion – has been annually awarded to organizations that have successfully addressed contemporary issues with exemplary professional skill, creativity and resourcefulness.

Silver Anvil Awards recognize complete programs that incorporate sound research, planning, execution and evaluation. They must meet the highest standards of performance in the profession.

Silver Anvil Awards recognize outstanding strategic public relations programs. They are awarded in 13 categories and various subcategories.

Only one Silver Anvil may be awarded in each subcategory. Up to three other entries in each subcategory may be awarded a Silver Anvil Award of Excellence. No awards are given in categories for which judges determine entries do not merit them.

Finalists in each category will be notified in late March 2016, and will be posted online at www.prsa.org. From these finalists, Silver Anvil and the Award of Excellence winners will be announced on June 9, 2016, at the Silver Anvil Awards Ceremony in New York City.

Silver Anvil Entry Guidelines

- All entries and entry materials must be submitted digitally online. Entrants are no longer required to submit binders.

- At least some part of the program must have occurred in 2015. Programs tend to have better chances of winning near their completion, when evaluation against initial objectives can be measured.

- Entrants may choose to enter their program into more than one category, provided that it applies to the specific criteria stated within each category. The simplest way to do this is to select the “Copy Submission” link from the “Review and Checkout” page of the first entry submitted. In deciding which category/categories are most appropriate, entrants should examine program objectives and target audiences. Visit www.prsa.org/Awards/Search to view our database of Anvil Award-winning case studies in the categories you wish to enter. Judges will not move entries to better suited categories.

- Basic Entry Information: Entrants must select the category being entered, the title of the entry (each title must be unique or it will be renamed), name of the organization/client, name of the agency (if any) and a 100 word description of the program.

- Two-Page Summary: A concise summary no longer than two pages must be uploaded as a PDF. Each of the four criteria — research, planning, execution and evaluation — must be addressed. The two-page summary should be typed using no smaller than a 10-point typeface and one-inch margins.

- Supporting Materials: Entrants will be instructed to upload four separate PDFs (no more than 225 pages each with a maximum file size of 10MB) of any detailed supporting materials referenced in the research, planning, execution and evaluation sections of your two-page summary. Pages should be no larger than 8.5 x 11 inches (A4 size for international entries) with a minimum of 10-point typeface and one-inch margins.

- Images: Upload up to three graphic images representative of your program. This image will be featured onscreen during the Silver Anvil Awards Ceremony should the program be selected as a finalist. We ask that the image meet the following requirements: Acceptable file formats include: jpg, tif, eps, native Illustrator, Photoshop or hi-res pdf files. As a general rule of thumb, the artwork should be at least 1,000 pixels or more in either width or height.

- By entering the Silver Anvil program, all entrants confirm that their programs and entries comply with the ethical standards of the profession, as embodied in the PRSA Code of Ethics. Should your entry have an aspect of "ethics performance" that is both instructive and vital to your program, please include commentary of no more than four sentences. Should the judges find two entries equally deserving of a Silver Anvil, they may use this statement to break the tie. If at any point PRSA becomes aware of any aspect of a submission that may not be in compliance with the Code, it may, at its sole discretion, take appropriate action.

Tips for Preparing Your Silver Anvil Entry

The two-page summary is the single most important component of the Silver Anvil entry. Judges evaluate the program on the merit of the four criteria — research, planning, execution and evaluation — that you share in your two-page summary. Your entry should begin with a brief situation analysis for your program. Visit www.prsa.org/Awards/Search to view examples of past Silver Anvil-winning case studies.

Use the following questions to help you prepare a strong entry:

Research

- What prompted the research? Was it in response to an existing problem, or does it examine a potential problem?
- What type of research did you use — primary, secondary or both? Primary research involves original research, including focus groups, interviews and surveys. Secondary research involves searching existing resources for information or data related to a particular need, strategy or goal (e.g., online computer database searches, Web-based research, library searches, industry reports and internal market analyses).
- How was the research relevant to shaping the planning process?
- How did the research help define or redefine the audience(s) or the situation?

Planning

- How did the plan correlate to the research findings?
- What was the plan in general terms?
- What were the specific, measurable objectives of the plan?
- Who were the target audiences?
- What was the overall strategy used?
- What was your budget?

Execution

- How was the plan executed, and what was the outcome?
- How did the activities flow in general terms?
- What were the key tactics?
- Were there any difficulties encountered? If so, how were they handled?
- Were other organizations involved?
- Were nontraditional public relations tactics used, such as advertising? (Unless you are entering this program under “Integrated Communications,” advertising costs should not exceed one-third of the budget.)

Evaluation

- What methods of evaluation were used?
- What were your results?
- How did the results compare to the specific, measurable objectives you identified in the planning section?
- How well do the results reflect original strategy and planning?
Definitions Used In Categories and Subcategories
Use the following definitions to help you decide the most appropriate category and subcategory based on your program’s objectives and audiences.

“Business — Products” and “Business — Services”
These subcategories include all profit-making entities. A company that derives half or more of its sales from manufacturing products should enter under “Products.” A company that derives half or more of its revenues by providing services, such as banks, utilities, retailers and transportation companies, should enter under “Services.”

Government
This subcategory includes all government bureaus, agencies, institutions or departments at the local, state and federal levels, including the armed forces, regulatory bodies, courts, public schools and state universities.

Association
This subcategory includes trade and industry groups, professional societies, chambers of commerce and similar organizations.

Nonprofit
This subcategory is specifically intended for health and welfare organizations, as well as educational and cultural institutions not included in other subcategories. It is not intended for organizations that may have nonprofit status but are clearly business organizations. Programs receiving funding or support from private or government organizations should be entered in those subcategories or “Partnerships.”

Partnerships
This subcategory is intended for public service programs that are funded jointly by businesses and other organizations, including nonprofit or government.

Packaged Goods
This subcategory refers to traditional consumer products sold in packages, such as food products, pet products, household goods, toiletries and cosmetics.

Non-Packaged Goods
This subcategory refers to consumer products, such as clothing, appliances and furniture.
